What's the problem?

- Merchants need to acquire goods from Suppliers to sell in their storefronts in a simple and efficient manner.

How are we going to solve the problem?

- Creation of a new software called LoadUp that can allow the exchange of goods between Suppliers and Merchants.
- Both Merchants and Suppliers will be able to track the orders from their starting location to their destination.
- The deliveries will follow a Doordash type model where orders that are ready to ship will be displayed to Drivers that can freely accept the pending deliveries.
